This historic book may have numerous typos and missing text. Purchasers can usually download a free scanned copy of the original book (without typos) from the publisher. Not indexed. Not illustrated. 1908 edition. Excerpt: ...the direction of the falling of a chimney was taken according to the sector toward which it fell. The streets in the main part of town run either parallel or at right angles to First Street. Since the bearing to First Street is N. 30 W., that of Santa Clara Street (at right angles to First) is N. 60 E. Generally the slant of the roofs of the houses that face these two streets will be N. 30 W., S. 30 E., N. 60 E., and S. 60 W., respectively. It was in these four general directions that the greatest number of chimneys were thrown over. The eight general directions are as shown on the following table: Directions of throw of rhimncys.
